Acknowledgements

First and foremost, I would like to extend my utmost appreciation to my supervisor, Puan Suraya Hamid for imparting her invaluable knowledge about Knowledge Management and also for her continuous support and guidance throughout this dissertation.

Acknowledgment also goes to the contribution from Dr. Mark Amir who took off from his precious time to read and comment on the draft. Special thanks is accorded to Dr. Bob Cross FACS whose critique and suggestions helped to improve clarity on the overall context and structure of my writing.

Sincere gratitude goes to Tourism Malaysia for allowing me to use their facilities to test my data and for their co-operation in providing me with information on the organization, relevant data and statistics which are very useful in developing the content of the prototype. And also for granting me their blessing and consent to undertake my study at all its Tourist Information Counter. Having mentioned this, special thanks also goes to the participating Tourist Assistants without their co-operation, analysis of my study wouldn’t have been made possible.

Last but not least, I am grateful to my parents, my husband and children for their encouragement and understanding.
